The Local Area

Exton House is a new development of luxury apartments situated on Hove's historic Second Avenue. One of four graceful avenues that sit off Hove seafront and either side of the majestic Grand Avenue, Second Avenue was developed in the late 1800s with the vision that it should have 'more breathing room, less bricks and mortar'.

It's this spaciousness that gives Second Avenue and the entire Avenues Conservation Area its easy, breezy feel with generous Victorian homes set back from wide, tree-lined roads. Exton House itself is a Grade II-listed Victorian mansion that stands alone but shares the harmonious yellow bricks and slate roofs of the period.

At the top of the avenue, you'll find the bustling Church Road with its independent bakeries, coffee shops, butchers, and florists, along with boutique bars, pizzerias and restaurants that come alive in the evening. At the bottom, the peaceful Hove Lawns and pebbled shoreline of Hove beach, with family-run Italian ice-cream parlour Marrocco's are just a temptingly short walk away.

Hove train station, with frequent, direct trains to London, is less than 20 minutes on foot or just four minutes by bicycle.

The History

Sometimes thought of as Brighton's chilled-out sister, Hove is a cosmopolitan seaside location with a distinctive character and charm all of its own. Its tree-lined avenues, graceful Regency squares, and plentiful green spaces and parks lend the city a peaceful, laid-back air.

There's a vibrant cultural scene, with a host of independent galleries, museums, and theatres including The Hove Museum of Creativity, The Artista Café and Gallery, and the Grade II-listed Old Market Theatre, which hosts national and international theatre, music, and comedy performances year-round.

Hove is home to a variety of independent boutiques, stylish shops, and characterful antique stores. Foodies are also in their element here with standout restaurants that include The Ginger Pig (also ranked as one of top ten pubs in the UK) and the Michelin-recommended Little Fish Market.

Stroll east along Hove's picturesque promenade and you'll reach vibrant Brighton, and all this exciting city has to offer. Or head just 15 minutes north and you're at the breathtaking South Downs National Park with its rolling hills, glorious heathland, river valleys, ancient woodland, and iconic white cliffs.
